THE CINCINNATIS. Hanlon's Men Continue Their Splendid Work in the West-Hut the Philadelphias Capture the Pittsburgs and Maintain Their strong Lead Other League Postponed. While the New Yorks are floundering around pear the tail end of the League race, the champion Brooklyns are delighting the baseball enusiasts of this city by continuing their fine playing on the present Western trip. Yesterday Hanlon's Superbas again defeated the Cincinnatis, which makes their fifth victory out of the six games played since leaving home. The

St Louis for $3,000, the Champtons are now able to present an even stronger front than before, specially with Capt. Kelley back in left field. Manager Hanlon has bandled his men with rare Manager Hanion has baudied his men with rare judgment so far and has made very few mistakes. The Philadelphia club still maintains a lead of 7s points over the Brooklyna, however, because they took a fall out of the Pittsburgs yesterday and thereby forced the latter team to a place on even terms with the Chicagos. The defeat of the Cincinnatis caused them to increase their grip on sixth place. Rain prevented the Bostons from meeting the Chicagos, while the New York-St Louis game was postponed until to-day—an open date—because of the opening of the racing senson in the Mound City. The showing of the New Yorks so far has not been a source of disappointment to those who know anything about baseball and who realize the strength of the other teams. The New Yorks are weak in the box and at third base. Manager Ewing had a chance to land Cross, but the New York club paid no attention to the offer of President Robison of St. Louis. Instead it was announced yesterday that an unknown amateur named Joe Higgins, said to have played on a team in Harlem, has been simed to displace Mercer, who, though not an expert fielder, has shown strength in batting and base running. To displace Mercer with an inexperienced amateur instead of a man like Cross is something for the cranks to consider, especially when they read now and then that the New Yorks have been "robbed by the umpire." The results: indement so far and has made very few mis-

Cincinnati, May 17.—The Champions did all their run getting in one inning to-day and that too after two were out, but during that period they pushed enough men over the pan to win the game. After this inning, however, Hahn settled down and but three bits were secured off his delivery during the remainder of the game. Kitson did good work in keeping the Reds' hits scattered. He was hit much harder than Hahn but was more lucky. There was a change in both teams to-day when they took the field Lave Cross reported and covered third for the Champions while Kelley returned to left relegating Sheckard to the bench. For Cincinnati Barrett had a rest and McBride went to right while Geler had a chance in centre. This is how Brooklyn scored in the first inning: Jones scratched an infield single toward Steinfeldt. After Keeler had died, Steinfeldt fell down and the ball went on to centre, Kelley reaching third, Jones counting. Dahlen's grounder passed Crawford for a triple, Kelley scoring. Cross walked and De Mont hit the centre-field fence for two bags, Dahlen and Cross counting. McGuire was settled, Corcoran to Beckley. The Reds scored in this inning on singles by Geler and Corcoran and an out. Beckley double and two outfield lies gave the Reds their last run in the sixth. The score:

Fights on the Diamond and Riots Among Spectators Now on the Cards.

The Chicago Record has this to say about the game in that city on Sunday: "Sunday's local game on the grounds of the National League had the spectacular embellishments of two fires in the bleachers, a fistle fight on the diamond and an incipient riot among the spectators. When other forms of excitement fail to attract, the League managers may possibly revert to the old-fashioned and apparently forgotten custom of putting up a good game of ball."

BROWN FINISHES HIS THIRTEENTH CENTURY.

Travelling Difficult Owing to the Heavy Roads The Rider Suffers From the Loss of Sleep-Confident of Finishing His Task. For a week past workmen have been busy shovelling a sandy loam on the surface of the Merrick road to repair the ravages of the winter. When it is packed and worn it will make good top dressing, but now it makes the road heavy and this has been adding sorely to the labors of Will Brown, the lean and lanky phenomenon, who is pedalling off records for continuous centuries toward the 2,000 mark over the C. R. C. course between Valley Stream, Freeport, Hempstead and Springfield. Yesterday the going was so poor that his volunteer corps of pacemakers began to shirk and most of the time he was accompanied by only one rider. There were several falls in the mud at Rockville Centre and at Hempstead on the part of pacemakers, but the almost sleepless Brown kept upright, to the wonder of all. After finishing his first 1,000 miles at noon on Tuesday Brown began to "hit it up" a bit and he covered 150 miles before midnight. This gain was lost, however, on account of the rain, which was heavier on Long Island than in New York. Brown finished 1,100 miles at 10:10 e'clock on Tuesday night and had ridden 1,150 miles at a little after midnight. Then he had to lay up for six hours, during which time he had three hours' sleep. He completed 1,200 miles at 10:37 o'clock yesterday morning. At 8:25 o'clock last night Brown finished his 1,300th mile, his total time being 128 hours and 25 minutes. When in his thirteenth century during the afternoon he was interviewed by a reporter of THE SUN. He was not suffering in any way except from loss of sleep, which was shown in his slow and dragging movements when off the wheel. "Well, are you going to stick to it and finish?"

the reporter asked him. Brown half chuckled as he answered: "Finish! Sure I will. I haven't thought of quitting since I started. I'm sleepy now, outting since I started. I'm sleepy now, but doing well enough—well enough for a consumptive, eh? Say, they read the story in The Sirk to me to-day and it was all right—the straightest and best of any. A minute later he had wandered out of his little dressing room to the piazza, where Charley Mock was trying to fix a loose crank on Brown's wheel.

"Change the nut from the other crank to this side and put an extra washer on," suggested Mock looked at him critically and remarked:
"Weil, you're not very dopey when you ca

Weil, you're not very dopey when you can get together an idea like that. It's a good scheme."

Brown continued: "Get the right crank fast, anyhow, for that's the one on which I do all my pushing. I don't care so much about the other, but I'm always kicking right cranks loose and breaking them." Then he added for explanation: "I broke my right foot once and it doesn't work good. I can't ankle on that side at all." side at all."

Brown is 5 feet 10 inches tall and it is noticeable that his left leg is straight and slender and noticeably smaller than the right one. His remark gave the opportunity for inquiry concerning this, and Brown quickly confirmed the inference that his right leg had been developed by cycling while the other remained a reminder of the time when he was "a poor consumities"

The fast set of "pros," who have been training at Louisville, are turning their faces eastward, intent upon being in this vicinity for the events of Decoration Day. The first one to arrive here will be Floyd McFarland, who has telegraphed his entry for two events to be decided at Valisburg on next Sunday. Several of the others have left and are making their way eastward by east starce.

The handsome Californian, Our Jack, was started at $1,000. The price went quickly to $1,100,$1,200 and $1,500 and then lagged a bit.

H. Gordan—The sidepath law was designed to enable wheelmen to build cycle paths at their own expense and exclude from them drivers and those cyclists who do not contribute by purchasing an annual license tag. It is a State law, under which county judges upon petition appoint county sidepath commissioners, who fix the price for the license tags and superintend the building of the paths. A tag sold in any county is good in all the others of the State, excepting Monroe and Albany. The commissioners of those counties have, however, voted to recognize the tags as a courtesy. Enthusiastic ers of those counties have, however, yoted to recognize the tags as a courtesy. Enthusiastic wheelmen who believe in the sidepath movement make it a point to purchase a tag in every county they visit, and they take pride in pointing to a collection of them on their wheels. You can buy a Suffolk county sidepath tag at the effices of the L. A. W., room 520, 132 Nassau street. The price is 50 cents.

offices of the L. A. W., room 520, 132 Nassau street. The price is 50 cents.

The bike cops do not report for duty until 10 o'clock in the morning and the early birds of cycing often see acts not down on the programme before the minions of the law get around for business. It is no uncommon thing for members of the racing brigade to use the cycle paths and boulevards for speeding purposes; and as there is no one around to interfere with them the public roads answer their purposes as well, if not better, than an enclosed blevels track. The other morning a handful of wheeling enthusiasts on the Riverside Drive witnessed the unusualsight of a natty up-to-date automobile acting as pacemaker to a racing man who was preparing for the season's work on the track. They were hitting it up in great style on the stretch of road between 198th street and Grant's Tomb. Now and then the cyclist would rest himself by grabbling hold of the rear of the automobile, but soon he would cast off his tow line, as it were, and hump himself to keep up with his pace. They tore up the hill at lightning speed. Things went along all right until they reached the top of the hill. Here the handlers of the automobile lost control of their machine and the result was they ran full tilt into the grante steps which lend up to the Tomb. There was a crash and the automobile jumped about a foot in the air and then rolled over on its side. The wheelman, who was sprinting along all unconscious of the impending catastrophe, went up in the sir about the time the machine did, only he and his wheel took a higher flight wheel His lamentations were loud and long, but they lell upon idle ears for the automobile men were too busy deploring the injuries to their $1,000 machine to pay any attention to the wreck of the $50 birycle.

An Interesting programme has been arranged for the opening race meet of the season at Berkeley Oval on Decoration Day. Besides an amateur one hour race, open to all, the card will comprise three other open events. Of these the most important to amateurs will be the Bronx Dash, at a half mile, and the Harlem Handicap, at one mile. In the one hour race prizes will be given to the leaders at each five miles and for the most number of laps.

Record at Clay Targets.

Ansley H. Fox of Baltimore broke the record at shooting double at clay targets at Baltimore on Tuesday. The feat was the result of a wager he made that he could break 43 out of 50, double-style shooting. In shooting doubles two birds are thrown into the air at the same time and the marksman tries to break one bird with each barrel. This requires great quickness and skill.

Fox began by smashing the first ten without a miss and after a few minutes' rest he started on his second ten. These also were ground to powder without a miss, as were also the third and fourth ten. He began on his last string amid great excitement. They, too, were disposed of without a miss, and Fox had broken the record. His friends then asked him to shoot at fifty more to see how high a score he could make. He then broke forty-eight out of the next fifty, which beats the best score yet made.

Champion Jeffries to Box at Madison Square Garden. Arrangements were completed vesterday for a twenty-round contest between Jim Jeffries and either Peter Maher or Joe Goddard at Madison Square Garden. The matchmaker of the Twentieth Century Club, as the organiza-tion will be known, had a talk with Billy Brady and articles of agreement were signed. It is not probable, however, that Maher will meet the champion, for the Irishman told a reporter of THE Sux that he has not been well, and that he would not do any fighting for some time to come.

The Seaside Sporting Club has decided to hold popular-priced shows. The first one will be on next Tuesday night when "Young" Starr of Philadelphia, who recently fought Spike Suiltvan, will clasp hands with Kid McPartland for twenty-five rounds. There will be one pre-liminary bout of twelve rounds between Dan McConnell of Philadelphia and Billy Einst of Brocklyn. WITH THE TROTTERS.

Goshen's Big List of Entries-Some Aristo cratic Foals of 1900

The renewed interest in trotting horses and harness races in Orange county is reflected in the remarkable list of entries received at Ooshen for the stakes of the August meeting. In the seven races which recently closed, 219 horses are eligible to start. No less than fortynine trotters were entered in the 2:35 class, and the average number of prospective starters in each class is thirty-one. Among the nominators are Gen. B. F. Tracy, E. H. Harriman, R. T. Wilson, J. Howard Ford, Thomas F. Russell, ex-Senator John McCarty, R. A. Fairbairn, De Witt C. Flanagan, H. T. Dyckman, E. S. Wells, Jacob Ruppert, J. S. Coates, Frederick Van Wyck, W. B. Dickerman and many other wellknown horse fanciers. Gen. Tracy has entered his promising three-year-old Axway, by Axworthy, 2:15%, in the 2:30 race for aged horses, where he will have to meet such good ones as Jacob Ruppert's Flower, ex-Senator McCarty's Jantine, E. C. Walker's Cartridge, Jr., De Witt C. Flanagan's Martha and W. H. Ludlum's Antonia. The race for three-year-old trotters will bring together Gen. Tracy's Oravella, by Oro Wilkes; R. T. Wilson's Yukon, by Stamboul; R. A. Fairbairn's The Montana; E. H. Harriman's Eieta, by C. F. Clay: ex-Senator Mc-Carty's El Milagro, by McKinney; E. S. Wells's Lake Queen, by Red Lake; H. T. Dyckman's Bellmaster, by Quartermaster, and a lot of other youngsters. The 2:15 race for trotters is the fastest class yet closed. E. H. Harriman's Lexington's new soft-earth driveway for the trotters has been named by the county authorities "McDowell Speedway." in honor of the late Major. H. C. McDowell. He suggested the project and donated the land on which the road has been built. The speedway extends from the entrance to Ashland, the old home of Henry Clay and of Major. McDowell, to the water works, a distance of nearly two miles. It is a beautiful stretch of road and is harrowed, watered and kept in condition for speeding at the expense of the county.

Several aristocratic trotters and pacers have come into the world since the beginning of May. Nancy Hanks, 204, recently dropped a bay colt by Arion, 2074, at the farm of J. Malcolm Forbes, near Boston. At Village Farm, near Buffalo, Geraldine, the dam'of Robert J. 2015, foaled a chestnut colt by The Beau Ideal last week. Split Silk, 208%, the fast pacing mare owned by C. W. Marks of Chicago, has a brown filly by Joe Parchen. 2014.

The road riders of Boston, Providence, Newark and several other cities have taken the cue from the New York Road Drivers' Association and are arranging pavades of their crack trotters and pacers. The Boston parade will take place on the morning of Decoration Day.

NATHAN STRAUS BUYS OUR JACK. Good Prices Received at Fiss. Doerr & Car-

There were many Speedwayites in the big crowd at Fiss, Doerr & Carroll's auction mart in East Twenty-fourth street yesterday afternoon, and as a rule they came out of curiosity to see what Our Jack, 2:1316, and the trotters and pacers George McBride has been honing at Speedway Park would bring. When asked about his fondness for raw potatoes and raw grain, Brown said:

"You cat raw apples, why not raw potatoes if you like them? They're good when you're thirsty, a relief from the everiasting oranges and make you feel as if you had something solid in your stomach. They wont let me have any water, you know. As for grain, give a man a jootite of water and a pocketful of barley and he can ride, and needn't quit till long after they are gone."

Nathan Straus, J. H. Shults, M. C. Boynton, George W. Grote, William E. Parsons, Jr., Thomas Lynch, Jr., Charles T. Chipman and other well-known horsemen were present. The good horses went with a rush and at prices bordering on the sensational as compared with possibilities for like animals covering the dark and gloomy period from 1892 to 1899. From that point until he became the owner of the son of Steinway there was an active market at $100 raises. Mr. Straus received a round of applause as he was announced to the big crowd as the purchaser. He also picked up the high-gaited son of Alert, Freddy, 2:104, a fast trotter that required a chestini of boots to fit him out for track or road, for $000. Mr. Straus took exceptions to a remark that Freddy could beat any local trotter over the Speedway and offered to back his statement with a cash deposit of $5,000 on behalf of Cobwebs.

The other horses sold well on toward an extra high market. They were well shown and in half of Cobwebs.

Spectrum, by Prodigal, one of Marcus Daly's nighest bred Bitter Root Ranch celts, consigned to the sale, was alling and had to be withdrawn. After the sale Nathan Straus said to a reporter of THE SUN:

"I drove our Jack on last Tuesday and he somehow impressed me as a decent fellow, fast enough to have a chance on our Speedway, yet perfectly reliable and safe. Those who saw him in California and know all about him regard him as a high class road trotter, and you know precious few fast-record trotters are good on the road till they have been thoroughly schooled. By that time they are old horses. Insist on having safe horses for life is worth far more than a fast ride. Cobwebs is one in ten thougand, and I shall, of course, never entirely replace him after his retirement. Still I believe I shall like Our Jack."

Messrs. Fiss, Doerr & Carroll are well pleased with the prices received at their first regular speed sale. The bestiprices follow.

Praytell May Be Sold and Not Race From the Philadelphia Record.

The Maxine-Praytell match race is scheduled to be decided at Belmont track on June 21. The horses are in training, but if Tom Grady and Stote Clark can be believed, neither the speedy pacer nor the great roadster trotter has been pacer nor the great roadster tratter has been asked to do anything but slow work. Proytell's best orle is said to have been 2.34, while Grady says 2.50 is all he has a ked of Max ne. The register of the same of the same and the price paid for Praytell ($4.00), and that if a compremise can be made with Grady in regard to the free can be made with race, the affair may be declared off and the big trotter change owners.

DR. GALLAUDET TO LEAVE YALE. New Head Coach for Crew Will Be Needed

-Bob Cook's Friends at Work. New Haven, May 17 .- It was announced at Yale to-day that Dr. Edson F. Gallaudet had handed in his resignation as member of the Yale faculty to take effect at the end of the college year. He is an instructor in physics, and has been head coach of the Yale crew for some time. Dr. Gallaudet has decided to leave the university and accept a place in the engineering department of the William Cramp & Sons' Ship and Engine Building Company in Philadelphia Dr. Gallaudet will remain with the crew until the close of the present season. After the the close of the present season. After the races at New London be will go to Philadeiphia to begin his new work. Dr. Gallaudet was a member of the class of '93, stroking the champion 'Varsity eight for two years. He studied abroad for two years after graduating, returning and becoming a member of the college faculty three years ago. He was head coach of the 'Varsity crew last season. He is a son of Dr. Gallaudet, director of the Deaf Mute Institute at Washington.

Dr. Gallaudet's resignation as the Yale crew coach makes it necessary for a new rowing director to be appointed. It was stated to-hight that tho Cook's friends are already active in his behalf. He is now at Paris, and it is reported that he is coaching a crew for the Exposition.
